Frankenmuth Insurance Introduces Domestic Partner Insuring Agreement in Ohio

Frankenmuth Insurance utilizes its Ohio Personal Lines Advisory Committee to find ways we can improve our Personal Lines products. Recently, the Committee provided positive feedback about the introduction of a new form to be used with Homeowners, Personal Auto, Dwelling Fire, Personal Umbrella and Recreational Vehicle policies in Ohio.

Form (PI-0001) Domestic Partner Insuring Agreement allows two unrelated individuals (over 18) living together in a long-term, committed relationship to be considered “named insureds” on the policy by signing and adding this endorsement. We believe this form, a Domestic Partner Insuring Agreement, will allow you to write and retain more business with Frankenmuth Insurance.

Effective Feb. 1, 2018, this endorsement can be added to your Personal Lines policy in iBIS on the Policy Information Screen, via a Yes/No question. You will find a new attachment type for the form under the attachment tab, and the policy effective date must be 02/01/18 or after.

As a company, we remain committed to making changes that not only help us grow profitably, but also aid our agency partners in growing their book of business. If you have any questions or need further clarification on this new endorsement, please contact your underwriter or personal lines field manager.

Thank you for thinking of Frankenmuth Insurance for all your new business.
