

Frankenmuth Insurance Unveils New Agency Blog Features

Frankenmuth Insurance is pleased to unveil new enhancements to our Agency Blog platform. In addition to a refreshed appearance, our new enhancements allow you choose what notifications you receive from our company and how often you receive them.

Here's what you need to know about these new features:

- Weekly digest: Tired of your inbox getting bogged down? You can now opt to receive instant notifications or a weekly digest, consolidating all emails from that week into one message that will be sent on Fridays. Please note: Urgent messages, such as binding authority suspensions, will override weekly digest preferences.
- Notification preferences: We listened to your feedback, and now you can choose the content you'd like to receive by turning on/off notifications for Personal Lines, Commercial Lines, Life Insurance, and Surety.

To select your preferences, visit our Agency Blog page by clicking "Read in browser>>" below, or navigate to fminsdev.wpengi.com/agent-blog. You can set your preferences on the right-hand side of your screen. Green means your selection is turned on.

We hope you like these new features, designed with you in mind!

If you have any questions about setting your preferences, please contact Automation Support at 800-234-1133, extension 3000.
