

Welcome to the new Agency Blog!

Get to know all the latest enhancements and capabilities of this platform, so that it's even easier to do business with us. We also stand ready to help you and your staff with any questions during this transition.

Here's everything you need to know:

- Our new blog is easier to navigate. The Agency Blog has been updated with a modern look, enhanced search feature and more.
- It's user-friendly. The new blog is mobile- and tablet-friendly. And, graphics, links and videos will be available right within the post.
- You can easily click to download a PDF of the post to share or save. For example, this functionality makes it easier for you to share information with others in your agency. It also provides a handy way to save an announcement for future reference.
- We'll answer your questions. While we transition, we have resources available to answer your questions or provide technical support. Please contact Agency Services at 989.652.6121 ext. 3000 or agencyservices@fmins.com.

We look forward to hearing what you think about the updated blog!
