

Register to Attend Product and System Training Webinars for New Commercial Lines Policy System

In preparation for the launch of our new Commercial Lines Policy System on Sept. 21, Frankenmuth Insurance is pleased to offer a series of product and system training webinars to introduce your agency to our new products and system for new business, renewals and policy change processing.

The Product webinars will provide details regarding the exciting new and updated coverages and forms we are offering across Commercial Lines, such as our new Diamond Property Premier and Diamond Liability Premier suite, which are innovative, state-of-the-art coverages designed to meet your clients' unique needs.

The System webinars are broken down into two segments: System Orientation and Advanced Features. System Orientation will provide your agency with the tools necessary to navigate the system and complete policy entry to quote and issue an account. The Advanced Features session provides more understanding on how to process policy changes and renewals in the new system and where coverage defaults can be setup to make entry more efficient.
