3 ways safety services can protect your business.

Business owners like you are hands-on. You run facilities, teams, and operations, all of which are vital to your success. We recognize the importance of protecting the things that make your business run. That's why we offer complimentary safety services to commercial policyholders.

Our loss control experts are equally hands-on and will recommend ways to make your business safer. Our safety services will help you by:

1. Identifying workplace hazards and performing loss analyses. Because every business is unique – with specific machines and equipment, layouts, chemicals, hazards, operations, and more – our loss control experts will start by visiting your workplace or jobsite to identify hazards and potential risks.

2. Evaluating existing safety programs. Well-rounded safety programs can help prevent work-related accidents, injuries, and workers compensation claims. Our loss control experts will evaluate your existing safety programs or will provide the tools to help develop them. You'll have access to no-cost safety training videos, PowerPoint presentations, quizzes, and sample safety plans.

3. Recommending ways to make your business safer. By identifying hazards today, you can prevent losses from occurring. Our loss control experts provide assessments and customized recommendations for all workplace locations. Your business and workplace are unique, so your risk management strategies need to be as well. Rely on our experts to help.
